

Who pays the bill for chipped equipment?

Altering farm equipment software to boost power voids warranty, accelerates engine wear and shortens operating life. Who pays? The farmer who loses warranty and needs repairs. The farmer, maybe a neighbor, who unknowingly buys used equipment that's damaged.

When equipment is chipped, sooner or later, a farmer pays.

